

2001

120% of the Monthly Weighted Average Table

Beginning in 2002, for current liability purposes, the maximum rate that Defined Benefit plan sponsors may use is 120% of the weighted average of 30-year Treasury securities. This rate is an increase from the 105% maximum under prior law.

However, Defined Benefit plan sponsors may use the 120% figures from 2001 for purposes of determining the required quarterly contributions under Internal Revenue Code section 412(m) for the 2002 plan year.
